BAR HARBOR, Me., Oct. 23—Fire, raging out of control, reversed itself today with a change in the wind and swept toward Bar Harbor's wealthy summer colony.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

There are repercussions to Brazil's break with Russia because of harsh things said of President Dutra—I hear Mr. Truman is torn between breaking with Izvestia or the Republican party.

But we were a natural to handle Brazil's interest in Moscow, having a long and unsuccessful record of handling our own.

Still, we are the best informed people in the world—thanks to Jimmie Byrnes' new book, we are now clear up to Yalta.

As we understand it now, the toasts were drunk in moderation at the Three-Power conferences—any advantages Stalin gained were accomplished with a clear head and design.

So far as the results to us, all contracts could have been written in vodka.

There is news in Washington that Bob Hannegan will remain in the cabinet—he still hasn't got enough material for a book.

WAVE OF BREAKS WITH REDS SEEN AS POSSIBILITY

Argentina May Be Next Of Latin-Americans To Blast Communism

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—Diplomatic quarters in Washington predicted today that the lead of Brazil and Chile in breaking diplomatic relations with Russia will be followed by several other Latin-American countries.

Argentina appears to head the list of states most likely to follow, if only because of the strong ideological differences between the regime of President Juan Peron and the Russia politburo.

Just how far the wave can be expected to go is a subject from which most officials and diplomats refrained. They noted that many Latin-American countries do not have diplomatic relations with Moscow but welcome such a move on the part of sister states.

HOWEVER, little public support is expected from Washington for such a move. Despite the implications of Moscow charges that, in severing relations, Brazil was paying tribute to foreign domination presumably the United States, officials insist that no advice was given Rio De Janeiro on the subject.

Officials readily concede that Brazil informed Washington of its decision to break relations before doing so. This already was implied by the fact that the state department was asked to take over Brazil's representation in Moscow before the move was decided officially.

In support of the contention that the Brazilian and Chilean move will be followed by others, officials recalled that before World War II no Latin-American country had recognized the Soviet regime. They even failed to follow the lead of the United States when relations were established between Washington and Moscow in 1934.

The small powers are holding the offensive in the 57-nation political and security committee while the United States and Britain ready their big guns.

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky touched off the heated counter-offensive by blaming Britain and the United States for the current "war hysteria".

HE SPECIFICALLY named as incitement leaders such men as Winston Churchill, James F. Byrnes, Averell Harriman and William C. Bullitt.

Ramadier Strikes Out At Plan of De Gaulle To Revise Constitution

PARIS, Oct. 23—Premier Paul Ramadier of France, standing at the head of a streamlined new cabinet, struck out today against political forces which he said were attempting to undermine the French constitution.

Ramadier did not mention the Communists by name nor did he refer directly to Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "Reunion of the French People" party whose victory in last Sunday's municipal elections prompted him to revamp his government.

Political circles said that by inference at least he was criticizing De Gaulle's political attacks on the make-up of the Fourth Republic.

Ramadier said:

"There is political agitation trying to hamper the political basis of the country. The constitution of France has been established by the will of the people,

If one day someone thinks of reforming it—well and good.

"But while passing through a difficult period, it will not accomplish anything for the nation. You cannot go against the faith in parliament which is so deep-rooted among the French people. If you do that, you launch an attack against the Fourth Republic."

Ramadier warned that Communist agitation may harm the country and lead to new violence. He promised to present his new cabinet to the national assembly Oct. 28, at which time it will submit projects for economic organization and administrative reform.

The Socialist leader, who formed a streamlined new cabinet last night, referred to demands by followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle for a revision of the constitution.

Ramadier said:

30,000 ATTEND PUMPKIN SHOW GRAND OPENING

MORE THAN 5,000 persons assembled to await the naming of the winners.

These were:

Willa Chaffin, 6, Ashville, known as "Little Miss Pumpkin Show", daughter of Mrs. Marie Chaffin, and a first grade pupil at the Ashville school; Mary Jean Cochran, 7, Route 3, Circleville, second place; and Carol Ann Johnson, 8, of 322 South Pickaway street, third place. The latter two will serve as attendants to "Little Miss Pumpkin Show" and all three will reign along with "Miss Pumpkin Show of 1947" during the Pumpkin Show.

Although the Pumpkin Show crowd Wednesday night was generally estimated at 30,000, some estimates were much higher. For instance, Jim Creedon, retired Columbus detective who is now attending his 20th Pumpkin Show in search of pickpockets, said Wednesday night's crowd numbered closer to 45,000.

CLOSE TO 10,000 jammed into Circleville High school athletic field for the huge Band Festival Wednesday night. For 90 minutes they listened to thrilling band music of Central Ohio high school bands. These included Lancaster, Columbus West, Washington C. H., Jackson, Ashville, Circleville, and the new All County bands.

At 2 p. m. Thursday scores of small boys and girls took part in the Pet Parade through the downtown district. The procession formed on Watt street and proceeded to Pinckney, to Scioto, to Main, to Court, to Mound, to Pickaway, and returned to Watt street where the judging took place and cash awards were made.

A band concert at Court and Main streets was scheduled for 4:15 p. m. The high pole act of the Three Milos was set for 4:30 p. m. at East Main and Pickaway streets. Band concerts were to be given at 6 and at 6:30 o'clock at Court and Main streets.

The "Miss Pumpkin Show of 1947" parade will start at 7 p. m. Thursday. It will form on Watt street and will proceed to Pinckney, to Scioto, to Main, to Court, to Franklin, to Pickaway, to Main, to Court, and to Watt street.

A board of non-resident judges stationed at the courthouse will review the parade and will select the winner and her two aides.

Contending for the title of "Miss Pumpkin Show" will be 13 girls selected to represent 13 high schools in Circleville and Pickaway county.

THE PARADE will be led by Miss Patricia Love, Stoutsville, who was "Miss Pumpkin Show of 1946".

An amateur contest will be staged at 8:30 at Main and Court streets, and at the same location a band concert will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

The Baby Parade will be staged at 2 p. m. Friday and a series of contests will be held Friday evening at Court and Main streets.

VANDALISM ON UPSWING AS HOLIDAY NEARS

Vandalism under the guise of Halloween pranks again threatens to get out of hand this year as officials strive desperately to curb youth's destructive tendencies. Local warnings have been issued by Police Chief McCrady and Sheriff Radcliff.

Life is not safe. At Salem, a "prank" cost the life of 18-year-old Sam Madden, an innocent victim. He was injured fatally when his motorcycle struck a large boiler which pranksters had rolled into the highway. The boiler was awaiting installation at a greenhouse.

Bellville authorities imposed a 10 p. m. curfew on the village school children after vandals in the Richland county village damaged newly-constructed houses.

Four Bucyrus youths found their halloweening costly after a swing through three counties. They were fined a total of $246 for opening fire hydrants in Nevada in Wyandot county, New Washington in Crawford county, and Attica in Seneca county.

Ashland county authorities were attempting to maintain order by putting an additional six patrol cruisers into operation, manned by 12 deputies.

Most of the larger cities were augmenting their night police forces.

It was predicted that an announcement would be forthcoming from Washington or Columbus within a few days naming Congressman Clarence J. Brown, Blanchester, O., publisher, as Taft's campaign manager.

Taft backers throughout the nation are freely predicting that the Ohioan will have more first-ballot strength at next June's convention than New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the 1944 presidential nominee.

They are claiming a minimum of 250 votes on the first ballot, including Ohio's 53, some 150 from the southern states and the balance scattered in other places.

The convention will be composed of 1,093 delegates, with 547 needed for nomination.

MORE THAN 5,000 persons assembled to await the naming of the winners.

Willa Chaffin, 6, Ashville, crowned "Little Miss Pumpkin Show", daughter of Mrs. Marie Chaffin, and a first grade pupil at the Ashville school; Mary Jean Cochran, 7, Route 3, Circleville, second place; and Carol Ann Johnson, 8, of 322 South Pickaway street, third place. The latter two will serve as attendants to "Little Miss Pumpkin Show" and all three will reign along with "Miss Pumpkin Show of 1947" during the Pumpkin Show.

Although the Pumpkin Show crowded Wednesday night was generally estimated at 30,000, some estimates were much higher. For instance, Jim Creedon, retired Columbus detective who is now attending his 20th Pumpkin Show in search of pickpockets, said Wednesday night's crowd numbered closer to 45,000.

CLOSE TO 10,000 jammed into Circleville High school athletic field for the huge Band Festival Wednesday night. For 90 minutes they listened to thrilling band music of Central Ohio high school bands. These included Lancaster, Columbus West, Washington C. H., Jackson, Ashville, Circleville, and the new All County bands.

At 2 p. m. Thursday scores of small boys and girls took part in the Pet Parade through the downtown district. The procession formed on Watt street and proceeded to Pinckney, to Scioto, to Main, to Court, to Mound, to Pickaway, and returned to Watt street where the judging took place and cash awards were made.

A band concert at Court and Main streets was scheduled for 4:15 p. m. The high pole act of the Three Miles was set for 4:30 p. m. at East Main and Pickaway streets. Band concerts were to be given at 6 and at 6:30 o'clock at Court and Main streets.

The "Miss Pumpkin Show of 1947" parade will start at 7 p. m. Thursday. It will form on Watt street and will proceed to Pinckney, to Scioto, to Main, to Court, to Franklin, to Pickaway, to Main, to Court, and to Watt street.

A board of non-resident judges stationed at the courthouse will review the parade and will select the winner and her two aides.

Contending for the title of "Miss Pumpkin Show" will be 13 girls selected to represent 13 high schools in Circleville and Pickaway county.

THE PARADE will be led by Miss Patricia Love, Stoutsville, who was "Miss Pumpkin Show of 1946".

An amateur contest will be staged at 8:30 at Main and Court streets, and at the same location a band concert will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

The Baby Parade will be staged at 2 p. m. Friday and a series of contests will be held Friday evening at Court and Main streets.

DAN E. OWENS GOING TO SCHOOL IN AUSTRIA

Technician Fifth Grade Dan E. Owens, of Circleville, is a student at the school of standards for non-commissioned officers of United States Forces in Austria.

The school, situated in the impressive mountain surroundings of Zell am See, Austria, is designed to develop leadership and to instruct picked men in their duties as non-commissioned officers with USFA.

T-5 Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Owens, began his military service in Columbus, in July of 1946. He is currently serving with the 640 Engineers Service Company in Linz, Austria.

FORMER JAP. ADMIRAL, AIDES, GUILTY OF MURDER

GUAM, Oct. 23—Former Japanese Admiral Shimepi Asano and five subordinates were found guilty today by a United States military commission of the murder of two American prisoners at Truk.

The commission, headed by Rear Admiral Robinson of Washington, D. C., was expected to sentence the convicted men tomorrow.

VANDALISM ON UPSWING AS HOLIDAY NEARS

Vandalism under the guise of Halloween pranks again threatens to get out of hand this year as officials strive desperately to curb youth's destructive tendencies. Local warnings have been issued by Police Chief McCrady and Sheriff Radcliff.

Life itself is not safe. At Bellville, "prank" cost the life of 18-year-old Sam Madden, an innocent victim. He was injured fatally when his motorcycle struck a large boiler which pranksters had rolled into the highway. The boiler was awaiting installation at a greenhouse.

Bellville authorities imposed a 10 p. m. curfew on the village school children after vandals in the Richland county village damaged a newly-constructed house.

Four Bucyrus youths found their halloweening costly after a swing through three counties. They were fined a total of $246 for opening fire hydrants in Nevada in Wyandot county, New Washington in Crawford county, and Attica in Seneca county.

Ashland county authorities were attempting to maintain order by putting an additional six patrol cruisers into operation, manned by 12 deputies.

Most of the larger cities were augmenting their night police forces.

It was predicted that an announcement would be forthcoming from Washington or Columbus within a few days naming Congressman Clarence J. Brown, Blanchester, O., publisher, as Taft's campaign manager.

Taft backers throughout the nation are freely predicting that the Ohioan will have more first-ballot strength at next June's convention than New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the 1944 presidential nominee.

They are claiming a minimum of 250 votes on the first ballot, including Ohio's 53, some 150 from the southern states and the balance scattered in other places.

The convention will be composed of 1,093 delegates, with 547 needed for nomination.

HUNT CONTINUES FOR SHORT-TAILED MONKEY

Monkey minus half its tail was being hunted in the Circleville area, Thursday, for the third successive day.

It had not been sighted up to Thursday noon although late Wednesday afternoon the animal was reportedly seen in the 500 block of North Court street. It had previously been observed early Tuesday near Kingston, 10 miles from Circleville, and apparently headed for the Pumpkin Show in Circleville, the monkey was sighted by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and his deputies at 10 a. m. Wednesday at the east end of Mound street. However, the monkey eluded capture and headed northwest along the bank of Hargus creek.

The four were Cole, Donald Ogden Stewart, John Howard Lawson, and Tess Schlessinger.

BANSHEES HEAP HIGH HONOR ON MICKEY MOUSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—The Banshees paid tribute today to "Mickey Mouse" and his creator, Walt Disney, by presenting Disney with a special award for outstanding work in the field of newspaper illustration or writing.

The award, the first of its kind and one that is scheduled to be presented annually by the club, is known as the "Lady," and is similar to the "Oscar" of movie fame. It is a handsome statuette depicting a leprechaun and a lady (the arts).

Presentation of the award to Disney, who made a special trip from the west coast, was made by Mayor William O'Dwyer in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

The statuette was given to Disney as Mickey Mouse celebrated his 20th birthday. It was designed by the famous artist Willy Pogany.

$750,000 LOSS FIRE RAGES ON PORTLAND PIER

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 23—Three alarms were sounded today for a fire of undetermined origin which for a time threatened the million-dollar state pier in Portland before firemen began winning a fight to bring it under control.

The flames were brought under control in the so-called New York storage shed on the pier.

Firemen turned their efforts against the pier's south shed, containing a half-million dollars worth of paper and pulp products.

The fire started in the New York boat shed and is believed to have spread along railroad tracks to the south shed, which was destroyed.

Damage, including cargo, was estimated at $750,000. The cargo consisted of paper and pulp goods, sardines and navy surplus towels.

HOLLYWOOD QUIZ TO TEST RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH

Question At Issue Is U. S. Sufficiently Endangered To Warrant Brake

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—There are times, on many a sultry summer day, when even the most unassuming of weather prophets can accurately predict that a storm is brewing.

This is such a time—in another sense.

For this is not a summer thunder-shower that looms, but a long-predicted political storm which is gathering now on Capitol Hill. And the "politics" involved is not a partisan, nor even wholly a national thing, but a problem which must eventually be faced by the democracies of all time—if such democracies are to exist.

The case in question:

Hollywood witnesses have been called before the House Committee on Un-American activities to testify on charges that Communists have infiltrated the movie industry.

More specifically, the charges are that certain movies have followed the "Communist line" from time to time, have propagated some Communist ideologies by sympathetic treatment or have played into Communist hands by their implied criticisms of existing democracies.

A GREAT deal, both light and ponderous, already has been said about the situation—yet you seldom see the problem sharply outlined.

It is this:

Can a democracy in times of crisis or external threat (exclusive of declared war, which is a separate problem) best defend itself by foregoing full freedom of expression for the time, or by stubbornly sticking to all its fundamental principles—regardless of the current cost?

Curiously, both sides agree that the basic problem—just as both agree the hearings on the hill will not solve, but only serve to clarify, that problem.

THE REASON why it will not solve it is quite simple. Suppose the committee decides the movie industry is guilty of all the charges. What then will be—what can be—done? The answer is that, at the moment, except for exposure through nationwide publicity, almost nothing can be done.

Even if the industry, for the most part, is completely cleared, the question will hang unanswered in the public view. And, considering the current state of relations between countries espousing democracy and those supporting Communism, it will not be long until new cause calling for a full solution will be found...

Despite the usual filmland froth which overhangs the hearings, there is no doubt about the recognized seriousness of the subject. Already, tempers are hot, and angry words are flying.

COMMITTEE members have charged that, through the movies they write, produce and act in, certain Hollywood citizens are deliberately selling out this country to the Communists America's overthrow, by violence if necessary.

The National Lawyers Guild, which strongly opposes the purpose of the hearings, charges that the committee "has sought to prescribe what is orthodox in matters of politics, patriotism, social organization, opinion, art, education and science—it has created a condition of hysteria and intimidation in which freedom of speech is stifled and liberty of all Americans is imperiled."

Thus, already you hear cries of "treason" from one side, and "tyranny" from the other. And the fight has just begun—

Possibly there are both traitors and tyrants on both

ARMOUR SAYS REDS SEEK TO BALK RECOVERY

BOSTON, Oct. 23—Assistant Secretary of State Norman Armour has branded the Communists' recent Warsaw manifesto as a "public avowal" by the participants of a determination to prevent Europe's economic recovery.

Armour also told the conference on distribution that this, along with open denunciation of the Marshall plan, makes it clear that the Communists fear the plan will work. He declared:

"The manifesto issued by the recent Warsaw conference of Communist leaders from nine countries is a public avowal of the determination of the Communist to defeat if possible, the constructive efforts of the nations of Western Europe to regain their health, their self-respect and their ability to live a good life, worthy of proud and free peoples.

"Europe was broken by war and has begun to mend. We fail to see why the convalescent should be broken once more against its will, only in order that it can be reset in a hideous and crippling form."

Commenting on this opposition as a testimonial to the effectiveness of Secretary of State Marshall's approach to Europe's problems, Armour added:

"It also constitutes a deadly serious challenge that the free peoples of the United States and Western Europe should recognize and prepare to meet.

CANADA STARTS REMOVAL OF CEILINGS ON PRICES

sides. But far more important is the fact that, also on both sides, there are good honest American patriots who are seeking to solve this problem in order to protect and preserve the Democratic system of government in which they believe.

The one side says that freedom of expression should not be permitted when it seeks to overthrow our democracy by violence. The other side says that without full freedom of expression our democracy cannot survive at all.

IRONICALLY, there are honest, intelligent men on both sides who can quote Thomas Paine to prove their points. Those who oppose the committee have countless quotations of the early American pamphleteer to prove that he was a lifetime advocate of freedom of speech, press and associated forms of expression.

Those siding with the committee quote Paine's observations that world circumstances are "continually changing, and the opinions of men change also and as government is for the living, and not for the dead, it is the living only that has any right in it..."

And even Paine might be hard put today to decide whether our democracy is sufficiently endangered to require sacrificing of one of its freedoms—and whether it would survive the amputation.

For that is the problem posed by the Hollywood hearings on the hill.

sides. But far more important is the fact that, also on both sides, there are good honest Americans who are seeking to solve this problem in order to protect and preserve the Democratic system of government in which they believe.

The one side says that freedom of expression should not be permitted when it seeks to overthrow our democracy by violence. The other side says that without full freedom of expression our democracy cannot survive at all.

SENATOR SAYS RED LIES MUST BE COMBATED

Montanan Favors Allotment
Of Big Size To Be Used
Throughout Europe

(Editor's note: Rep. Mike Mansfield (D.) Mont. recently returned from Europe as a member of the special congressional European study committee. In the following exclusive article he says that there are evidences in every country of malnutrition, tuberculosis and disease. He urges American aid and calls for Western European nations to form an economic union.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—I had a conference with President Truman and I told him some of the impressions I had received as a member of the joint Senate-House committee which had just returned from Europe.

I pointed out the need of a greatly amplified information program to counteract the attacks, the distortions, and outright falsehoods being dispensed daily against us by the Communist press throughout all of Europe.

In my opinion it is absolutely necessary that great appropriations be made to carry out the information program so that the truth can be told about the United States and the good we have been able to accomplish recognized.

In every country visited there were evidences of malnutrition, tuberculosis, and disease. Germany and Romania presented the biggest starvation areas; Poland was the most devastated; and Switzerland, Sweden, Belgium, and Denmark were the best off economically.

The severe drought this last Summer and Fall has affected every country in Western Europe outside of Russia and the satellite countries. In the latter areas rains have been good and on the whole crops will be sufficient to see the people through this year. The products most lacked this winter will be wheat, coal and fertilizer.

If wheat is not forthcoming to take care of Western Europe, the bread ration will be reduced to such an extent that many people will find it difficult to live.

Even at the present time the greater part of the Italian population is subsisting on a bread ration from 75 to 124 grams a day or from 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 ounces. When one realizes that bread is the staple diet in practically every European country and that very little in addition is eaten, one can begin to comprehend the seriousness of the situation.

In addition to wheat, coal is very scarce; and the result is that the European countries now importing coal from the United States pay anywhere from $17 to $22 a ton, and, as they have no other goods to send into the United States in exchange, they have to pay for what they buy from us in dollars. The dollar situation is extremely serious in every European country at this time.

I believe that democracy is stronger in Western Europe today than it was two years ago but that temporary assistance is needed. I take exception to Congressman Taber's remarks that there were no underfed children in Europe, because they are there by the millions for anyone with two good eyes to see, to wonder and to worry about.

BREWSTER ASKS ENACTMENT OF • WAR III LAWS

Legislation Would Be On Tap For Quick Use In Sudden Emergency

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—A proposal that congress enact laws for World War III and put them in legislative cold storage loomed today as the senate war investigating committee continued its inquiry into mistakes of the past.

Sen. Brewster (R) Maine, committee chairman said his "mind is feeling in the direction" of pre-enacted over-all wartime legislation to become effective instantly upon passage of a simple emergency resolution by congress.

Louis C. Johnson, pre-war assistant secretary of war, was called as a witness as the committee prepared to continue its probe of why President Roosevelt did not use the over-all industrial mobilization plan that Johnson prepared in 1939.

FORMER WAR production board chief Donald Nelson and Charles E. Wilson of General Electric company, who stepped out of the war production board before Nelson was displaced, were to follow Johnson.

Brewster declared that the opening day's testimony, headlined by Defense Secretary Forrestal, supported the criticism that the Roosevelt administration's piecemeal putting together of an industrial mobilization plan slowed the war effort.

Brewster said:

"Nothing we heard was in conflict with Bernard Baruch's statement that failure to integrate authority cost thousands of lives and billions of dollars."

Forrestal and former WPA Vice Chairman Ferdinand Eberstadt urged that a full code of wartime acts be ready for quick action by congress in event of World War III, expected to hit with pushbutton speed.

SOVIET PLANS • FIGHT TO GAG PRESS, RADIO

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 23—The Soviet Union has opened a full-scale offensive in the United Nations in behalf of its plan, bitterly opposed by the United States, for an un-sponsored "gag" on the world's press and radio.

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky planned another vitriolic attack on alleged "war mongers" at the political and security committee session.

Several countries will strike back with counter proposals assailing official name-calling by UN diplomats.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall has instructed U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin to fight for a straight defeat of the Soviet resolution aimed ostensibly at "war mongers" but which might reach anyone discussing the danger of war.

The U. S. will offer no counter-resolution of its own at this time.

The making of a single United States presidential flag requires the services of an expert seamstress for an entire month.

BREWSTER ASKS ENACTMENT OF • WAR III LAWS

Legislation Would Be On Tap For Quick Use In Sudden Emergency

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—A proposal that congress enact laws for World War III and put them in legislative cold storage loomed today as the senate war investigating committee continued its inquiry into mistakes of the past.

Sen. Brewster (R) Maine, committee chairman said his "mind is feeling in the direction" of pre-enacted over-all wartime legislation to become effective instantly upon passage of a simple emergency resolution by congress.

Louis C. Johnson, pre-war assistant secretary of war, was called as a witness as the committee prepared to continue its probe of why President Roosevelt did not use the over-all industrial mobilization plan that Johnson prepared in 1939.

FORMER WAR production board chief Donald Nelson and Charles E. Wilson of General Electric company, who stepped out of the war production board before Nelson was displaced, were to follow Johnson.

Brewster declared that the opening day's testimony, headlined by Defense Secretary Forrestal, supported the criticism that the Roosevelt administration's piecemeal putting together of an industrial mobilization plan slowed the war effort. Brewster said:

"Nothing we heard was in conflict with Bernard Baruch's statement that failure to integrate authority cost thousands of lives and billions of dollars."

Forrestal and former WPPB Chairman Ferdinand Eberstadt urged that a full code of wartime acts be ready for quick action by congress in event of World War III, expected to hit with pushbutton speed.

SOVIET PLANS FIGHT TO GAG PRESS, RADIO

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 23—The Soviet Union has opened a full-scale offensive in the United Nations in behalf of its plan, bitterly opposed by the United States, for a un-sponsored "gag" on the world's press and radio.

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky planned another vitriolic attack on alleged "war mongers" at the political and security committee session.

Several countries will strike back with counter proposals as sailing official name-calling by UN diplomats.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall has instructed U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin to fight for a straight defeat of the Soviet resolution aimed ostensibly at "war mongers" but which might reach anyone discussing the danger of war.

The U. S. will offer no counter-resolution of its own at this time.

BLIZZARDS AND RACKETS

RACKETEERING is in part due to climate, says Prof. Clarence A. Mills of the University of Cincinnati. Southern Europeans who are used to a warm climate come to our colder cities, and are emotionally upset by the change. So they turn to racketeering and other forms of crime.

There may be some truth to this, but not a great deal. Most of the South Europeans who experience this climatic change are law-abiding, useful citizens. There must be some other explanation for those who go wrong.

There is also the fact that emotional upsets due to factors outside the individual are being blamed too much for too many things nowadays. Many people have emotional difficulties to cope with at one time or other in their lives, and most of them cope without crime. The need for developing the power of the inner man to resist evil and to work out his life in the good side no matter what the outer circumstances is lost sight of by many psychologists these days.

How an unfortunate situation in early life may lead to the temptation to crime later can easily enough be seen. But some people weakly give in while others of equally unfortunate early life rise above it. A few moral principles and a little stiffness of backbone in hanging on to them are useful.

It seems dubious to blame racketeering on mere change of climate.

SALES TAX

THE NUMBER of states imposing sales taxes has gone up to 27. The advantage of the sales tax over other methods of raising revenue is that taxpayers take their objections out in grumbling. Increase a business tax, and business men singly and collectively will descend upon the legislature and raise Ned. Increase the sales tax, and the average man may wonder why everything costs more than it did; but he lets it go at that. This should be a warning and a suggestion to consumers.

PROSPERITY

WITH GREAT satisfaction, Washington reports that this nation ends its agricultural season with the greatest farm income in all history. The total showing is $30,000,000,000, one-fifth more than last year's output. There are obviously two things to be done in such a case. One is to thank God for it, and the other is to divide the produce as generously as possible with countries most in need.

Just about a year ago a Chicago packer, urging Congress to repeal OPA, prophesied confidently, "Prices will go up the first two or three weeks and then level off." He meant, level off like the Empire State Building.

National Guard Opposing
Combining With Reserves
Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—President Truman's military aide, Jovial Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, is on the receiving end of a series of blasts by National Guard leaders.

Vaughan's proposal to combine the National Guard and the Reserves, made through the Reserve Officers Association, is meeting determined opposition.

National Guardsmen view Vaughan's plan as a threat to destroy the military forces of the 48 states, or to make the state units mere "home guard" units.

Opponents of the Vaughan plan point to the sterling battle records in World War II of such National Guard units as the 36th (Texas) Division, the 37th (Ohio), 32nd (Michigan and Illinois), 45th (Oklahoma), and others.

Congress is expected to give serious consideration to a plan under which National Guard and Reserve officers would receive identical commissions in the "Army of the United States" but the Vaughan proposal is not likely to be adopted.

FOREIGN AID—The 16 countries of western Europe are agreed that the United States Congress must act swiftly to endorse the principles of the Marshall Plan through concrete action in order to stave off Communist encroachments among some of their own governments—notably France and Italy.

Representatives of the Paris conference group, now in the United States, have agreed to seek administration backing for a request to Congress for an initial "down payment" of $2,500,000,000 on the Marshall Plan, should a special session be called late this year.

This would take the place of the strictly "stop-gap" aid now con-

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

We were walking along Allen Street, which is where old brass, old silver, old anything can be bought for any price. The store-fronts are shabby; the windows crusted with years of dust and grime; the owners, shabby merchants in old clothes, their fingers discolored by the tarnish of the metals that are their wares.

My friend stopped before one such shop and tried to peer through the glass.

"You want something?" A bearded, collarless man had joined us.

"If you have it, I'd like a large Macabean lamp. These small ones are too small," my friend replied.

"Maybe in back there is a large one. Maybe sometime I can find one. Today, I don't want to look," the merchant said cheerfully.

"Don't you care whether you sell or not?" my friend asked.

"Not particularly. I like to sell enough wares to pay my rent and eat. The rest I like to keep in goods. Goods is sure; dollars maybe are good, maybe, they ain't. The dollars are just as good when they are in wares in this store as when they lie in a bank. Dollars I don't have; goods I got plenty." The merchant laid down his economic credo.

My friend asked: "Suppose there's an inflation?"

"That's nothing. If it's inflation, my goods are still goods. If it's a depression, the goods are still goods. So I pay less for rent and less for food and less for anything. So I sell my wares a little less. Inflation—I sell for more; depression I sell for less. But goods is goods." The merchant made everything clear.

"Mister," my friend asked, "Don't you ever borrow from a bank?"

The merchant laughed. "From a bank I should borrow? I should get a headache? I should have to sell my goods when I need to pay the bank? I should be forced? Like this, you buy, O. K. You don't buy, also O. K. The goods are mine. What I have is mine. I have no partners. That is good business. Anybody can understand that who knows what two plus two is. But maybe lots of people don't know the answer."

So we walked along old Allen Street, where we passed old and dirty stores, where men traded as for centuries they had in bazaars and marts and in a thousand stores and shops. These little people never went to colleges and they never read the great economists nor could they understand the graphs and charts that are issued with such assurance by thousands of bureaus and statistical associations.

But they understand the fundamentals of economics. They understand almost instinctively what is sound business and sound living. My friend said to me:

"In business, there is a residue of experience for which all book learning is no substitute. You sometimes wonder that I or one of my associates looks at a man who comes along with a perfectly sound proposition and we turn him down. The point is that there is one thing wrong with his proposition and that is the man himself. Out of our accumulated experience, a reflex, almost as strong as an instinct, says, 'Don't do business with that man.'

One of the curious facts of modern history is the way people have ruined themselves by drinking each others' health.

templated to tide Europe over with needed food and fuel this winter. The western European leaders believe that stop-gap aid of itself will be insufficient to stop several more European nations from swinging to the left this winter. They want the congressional stamp of approval on the long-range Marshall Plan.

RUSSIA MUSCLES INTO ASIA—A British Army officer writing in the Armored Cavalry Journal, warns that unless the United States, Britain and other great powers take a keener interest in Asia, the Russians will continue their expansion in the Far East.

He is Lieut. Col. J. V. Davidson-Houston, an engineering officer, who traces Soviet expansion in Manchuria, Korea, northwest Mongolia, Sinkiang, Afghanistan and Turkey.

The colonel says that Russia is pushing into Asia for three reasons: (1) "an exaggerated desire for security reasons against a possible enemy"; (2) "their tendency to assimilate neighboring peoples, and having assimilated them to take an interest in other peoples across the frontier," and (3) economic and political imperialism.

Davidson-Houston says Russia's expansion eastward "does not arise from any need of living space, the Russians have plenty of that." And he says that "their economic needs appear to be somewhat exaggerated."

JOE STALIN, OPTIMIST—The Russian embassy's propaganda "Information Bulletin" describes Premier Stalin as a highly confident man in 1942 when the Nazi armies were marching on Moscow. Its latest edition says:

"During the grimmest months of the war, Stalin did not cease to think of new ways of reconstructing the Socialist capital. In 1942, he gave instructions to commence building the 525-mile Saratov-Moscow gas pipe line."

The official Soviet propaganda medium said also that under the post-war "five-year-plan" eight skyscrapers, 16, 26 and 32 stories high, will be put up at a number of "suitable" sites. The magazine says the buildings are original in design; not copies of those abroad.

A picture accompanying the article makes this evident. It shows the proposed "Palace of the Soviets." Standing boldly atop the structure is a tremendous statue of Lenin which dwarfs even the tall skyscraper beneath it.

Representatives of the Paris conference group, now in the United States, have agreed to seek administration backing for a request to Congress for an initial "down payment" of $2,500,000,000 on the Marshall Plan, should a special session be called late this year.

This would take the place of the strictly "stop-gap" aid now continued.

BLIZZARDS AND RACKETS

RACKETEERING is in part due to climate, says Prof. Clarence A. Mills of the University of Cincinnati. Southern Europeans who are used to a warm climate come to our colder cities, and are emotionally upset by the change. So they turn to racketeering and other forms of crime.

There may be some truth to this, but not a great deal. Most of the South Europeans who experience this climatic change are law-abiding, useful citizens. There must be some other explanation for those who go wrong.

There is also the fact that emotional upsets due to factors outside the individual are being blamed too much for too many things nowadays. Many people have emotional difficulties to cope with at one time or other in their lives, and most of them cope without crime. The need for developing the power of the inner man to resist evil and to work out his life in the good side no matter what the outer circumstances is lost sight of by many psychologists these days.

How an unfortunate situation in early life may lead to the temptation to crime later can easily enough be seen. But some people weakly give in while others of equally unfortunate early life rise above it. A few moral principles and a little stiffness of backbone in hanging on to them are useful.

It seems dubious to blame racketeering on mere change of climate.

SALES TAX

THE NUMBER of states imposing sales taxes has gone up to 27. The advantage of the sales tax over other methods of raising revenue is that taxpayers take their objections out in grumbling. Increase a business tax, and business men singly and collectively will descend upon the legislature and raise Ned. Increase the sales tax, and the average man may wonder why everything costs more than it did; but he lets it go at that. This should be a warning and a suggestion to consumers.

PROSPERITY

WITH GREAT satisfaction, Washington reports that this nation ends its agricultural season with the greatest farm income in all history. The total showing is $30,000,000,000, one-fifth more than last year's output. There are obviously two things to be done in such a case. One is to thank God for it, and the other is to divide the produce as generously as possible with countries most in need.

Just about a year ago a Chicago packer, urging Congress to repeal OPA, prophesied confidently, "Prices will go up the first two or three weeks and then level off." He meant, level off like the Empire State Building.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

We were walking along Allen Street, which is where old brass, old silver, old anything can be bought for any price. The store-fronts are shabby; the windows crusted with years of dust and grime; the owners, shabby merchants in old clothes, their fingers discolored by the tarnish of the metals that are their wares.

My friend stopped before one such shop and tried to peer through the glass.

"You want something?" A bearded, collarless man had joined us.

"If you have it, I'd like a large Maccaeban lamp. These small ones are too small," my friend replied.

"Maybe in back there is a large one. Maybe sometime I can find one. Today, I don't want to look," the merchant said cheerfully.

"Don't you care whether you sell or not?" my friend asked.

"Not particularly. I like to sell enough wares to pay my rent and eat. The rest I like to keep in goods. Goods is sure; dollars maybe are good, maybe, they ain't. The dollars are just as good when they are in wares in this store as when they lie in a bank. Dollars I don't have; goods I got plenty." The merchant laid down his economic credo.

My friend asked: "Suppose there's an inflation?"

"That's nothing. If it's inflation, my goods are still goods. If it's a depression, the goods are still goods. So I pay less for rent and less for food and less for anything. So I sell my wares a little less. Inflation—I sell for more; depression I sell for less. But goods is goods." The merchant made everything clear.

"Mister," my friend asked, "Don't you ever borrow from a bank?"

The merchant laughed, "From a bank I should borrow? I should get a headache? I should have to sell my goods when I need to pay the bank? I should be forced? Like this, you buy, O. K. You don't buy, also O. K. The goods are mine. What I have is mine. I have no partners. That is good business. Anybody can understand that who knows what two plus two is. But maybe lots of people don't know the answer."

So we walked along old Allen Street, where we passed old and dirty stores, where men traded as for centuries they had in bazaars and marts and in a thousand stores and shops. These little people never went to colleges and they never read the great economists nor could they understand the graphs and charts that are issued with such assurance by thousands of business and statistical associations.

But they understand the fundamentals of economics. They understand almost instinctively what is sound business and sound living. My friend said to me:

"In business, there is a residue of experience for which all book learning is no substitute. You sometimes wonder that I or one of my associates looks at a man who comes along with a perfectly sound proposition and we turn him down. The point is that there is one thing wrong with his proposition and that is the man himself. Out of our accumulated experience, a reflex, almost as strong as an instinct, says, 'Don't do business with that man.'

The western European leaders believe that stop-gap aid of itself will be insufficient to stop several more European nations from swinging to the left this winter. They want the congressional stamp of approval on the long-range Marshall Plan.

• RUSSIA MUSCLES INTO ASIA—A British Army officer writing in the Armored Cavalry Journal, warns that unless the United States, Britain and other great powers take a keener interest in Asia, the Russians will continue their expansion in the Far East.

He is Lieut. Col. J. V. Davidson-Houston, an engineering officer, who traces Soviet expansion in Manchuria, Korea, northwest Mongolia, Sinkiang, Afghanistan and Turkey.

The colonel says that Russia is pushing into Asia for three reasons: (1) "an exaggerated desire for security reasons against a possible enemy"; (2) "their tendency to assimilate neighboring peoples, and having assimilated them to take an interest in other peoples across the frontier," and (3) economic and political imperialism.

Davidson-Houston says Russia's expansion eastward "does not arise from any need of living space, the Russians have plenty of that." And he says that "their economic needs appear to be somewhat exaggerated."

• JOE STALIN, OPTIMIST—The Russian embassy's propaganda "Information Bulletin" describes Premier Stalin as a highly confident man in 1942 when the Nazi armies were marching on Moscow. Its latest edition says:

"During the grim months of the war, Stalin did not cease to think of new ways of reconstructing the Socialist capital. In 1942, he gave instructions to commence building the 525-mile Saratov-Moscow gas pipe line."

• FOREIGN AID—The 16 countries of western Europe are agreed that the United States Congress must act swiftly to endorse the principles of the Marshall Plan through concrete action in order to stave off Communist encroachments among some of their own governments—notably France and Italy.

Representatives of the Paris conference group, now in the United States, have agreed to seek administration backing for a request to Congress for an initial "down payment" of $2,500,000,000 on the Marshall Plan, should a special session be called late this year.

This would take the place of the strictly "stop-gap" aid now con-

Treating Ringworm of Feet

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MEDICINE, like industry, was largely mobilized during the war to serve the men of our fighting forces. With so much talent concentrating on the medical problems of most common occurrence among our troops, it is not surprising that new forms of treatment were found for a variety of conditions.

Among these new treatments are several for ringworm of the feet, which used to be a very troublesome and stubborn disorder. It is still a effective in preventing ringworm infections. With the use of this substance more than eight out of ten of those tested were kept from developing the condition.

The iodine-containing preparations were next in efficiency. These preparations were also found effective in clearing up the ringworm infection.

Cases Vary

As I have stated, these ringworm infections of the feet vary greatly in their extent and severity. Treatment which may quickly relieve one type, may not only be valueless in another but may even serve to make the condition worse. Thus when a ringworm infection of the feet is present, the wisest thing to do is to consult a skin specialist, who will then be able to determine what sort of treatment will be most satisfactory.

For example, in an acute widespread case, it may be necessary to use one type of preparation at the beginning, followed by another preparation to complete the cure.

In some cases, X-ray treatments are of some value, but such treatments are not necessary in all cases. Old cases, where the infection has been present for some time, require different treatment from recent ones.

Testing the Preparations

In testing the various preparations, one type was put on one foot and another type on a similar area of the other foot. Then, after a period of time, the feet were examined to determine in which instance ringworm infection had developed. About one-fourth of the men studied had evidence of ringworm infection of the feet.

The preparation tried out contained such substances as zinc undecylene, sodium propionate, or calcium propionate, and combinations of these preparations. Certain iodine-containing substances known as diiodquin and viiform in the form of powders were also used.

Preventing Infection

It was found that the zinc undecylene preparation was the most effective in preventing ringworm infections. With the use of this substance more than eight out of ten of those tested were kept from developing the condition.

PARLEY SEEKS SOLUTION OF COAL PARADOX

Fuel Plentiful, But Rail
And Dock Shortages
Back Distribution

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—Government and industry officials conferred today on distribution bottlenecks threatening the paradox of coal "shortages" amidst near-record production.

The parley was called by Interior Secretary J. A. Krug and included producers, shippers and mine union representatives.

Indications are that Krug will seek industry compliance with a voluntary system of controls to iron out present difficulties.

The nation's 1947 coal output is expected to surpass 600 million tons, a figure that should be ample for all domestic needs and export requirements of approximately 40 million tons.

HOWEVER, the railroad car shortage, inadequate dock facilities for overseas shipments, and other factors have blocked equitable distribution of this output.

Rail dealers have flooded the interior department and congressmen with complaints on their inability to get adequate coal supplies and protesting against the large export shipments.

Both government and industry representatives assert, however, that the U. S. is mining enough coal to meet export needs without hardship on domestic consumers.

The problem is one of distribution.

Up to Oct. 11, the nation had produced 474 million tons of coal and during the next eleven and one-half weeks should mine another 138 million tons. This would give a total 1947 output of 612 million tons, second highest in history.

Industry officials pointed out that the country exported twenty-one million tons of coal last year on a production of 532 million tons. With another eighty million tons output this year, the nation should have no difficulty in doubling its exports, they said.

The national stockpile totalled forty-eight million tons Sept. 1, or a 30 days' supply.

SENATOR SET TO START PUSH FOR COUNTY OPTION

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23—Ohio Senator George Shurz of Newcomerstown today was to launch the Ohio Woman's Christian Temperance Union's statewide drive for county option bills.

Shurz will fire the opening gun in the campaign in an address to delegates attending the 74th annual convention of the WCTU.

In business sessions yesterday, the delegates heard Mrs. E. W. Weaver of Toledo, women's division chairman of the Ohio Council of Churches, speak on "The Atom and You," she said:

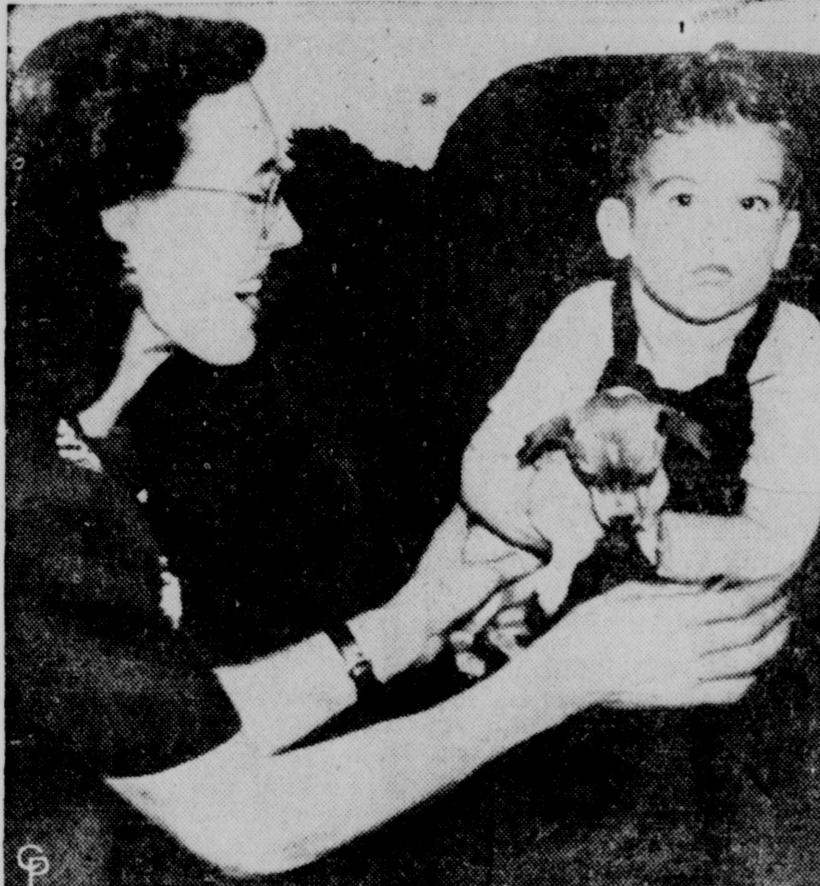

"Public opinion is the most powerful man-made thing in the world. And there is no reason to doubt the truth of the familiar advertising slogan" "Never underestimate the power of a woman."

Sam Morris of San Antonio, Tex., called "the foremost dry campaigner in America," told the nearly 200 delegates that "prohibition is not just 'coming' back, but it has come back in the states where the people have the privilege of voting local option."

Congressman Joseph R. Bryson of Greenville, S. C., sponsor of the Bryson bill calling for national prohibition, also will address the WCTU delegates tonight.

MARY S. DOWNS FOUND DEAD IN COLUMBUS HOME

Death of Mrs. Mary S. Downs, 50, former wife of Dewey Downs, Circleville, an official of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, was being investigated Thursday at Columbus.

Body of Mrs. Downs was found on the living room floor of her home at 1777 Sullivant avenue, Columbus, Wednesday, by her daughter, Mrs. Marybelle Rush, Orient, who had come on a visit.

Dr. Mitchell A. Spyker, Franklin county coroner, ordered the body removed to the University hospital for an autopsy and he said an analysis would be made of the contents of one of two glass tumblers found near the body, also the contents of two envelopes found on a nearby table. The envelopes, he disclosed, apparently had contained phenobarbital and some had been spilled on the table.

Patrolmen Perry W. Anderson and John P. Morgan said a gas radiator was burning in the living room, but the rear door was standing open when Mrs. Downs was found, apparently "several hours" after death. They reported that she had lost a job several weeks ago and was to have begun work as a part-time clerk Wednesday in a downtown Columbus store. Detective Lowell V. Sheets of the homicide squad also was assigned to investigate the case.

Mrs. Downs is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. Helen Rogers, Orient; Mrs. Martha Liff, Mt. Sterling; and Miss Pauline Downs who lived with her mother but who was at work at the time of death.

ASHVILLE

Mrs. Marion Glick will entertain the Past Chiefs Club and officers at the K.P. hall Thursday at 8 p. m.

Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Gardner left Tuesday for a ten days' vacation trip to the Great Smoky Mountains.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Rockey spent the week-end at Indian Lake.

Ira O'Day remains quite ill at his home on Randolph Street.

The Ashville Reds, champions of the Central Ohio baseball league, will be guests of the Ashville Community Club at their banquet meeting to be held Tuesday in the school auditorium.

Music will be furnished by the Anchor-Hocking Glass corporation. Reservations may be made with Rolland Featheringham.

Members of Boy Scout Troop 159 of Ashville, their dads, invited guests, and troop committee men, numbering twenty-seven in all, enjoyed a trip to Snake Mounds, one mile north of Ringgold, on Monday evening, October 20th.

Leaving Ashville before dark they arrived at their destination in time to see the mounds and the vast panorama of surrounding territory before darkness set in. With field glasses, points could be seen which were beyond the reach of the naked eye.

With the settling of the night, the group sat about the campfire and heard Troop Committee man Harold J. Bowers, tell the history of the Snake Mounds and of their builders, and also of the excavation of the mounds by the Ohio Archaeological Society and of the "finds" the Society made there. This was followed by the narration of a very interesting legend about Indian Summer.

Wiener sandwiches, do-nuts, hot chocolate and coffee made up the menu for the occasion. The whole group, both boys and men, returned home with memories of a most pleasant evening, and voicing the conviction that other such functions should be scheduled. The scoutmaster of the troop is Mr. Charles Ever-

PARLEY SEEKS SOLUTION OF COAL PARADOX

Fuel Plentiful, But Rail
And Dock Shortages
Back Distribution

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—Government and industry officials conferred today on distribution bottlenecks threatening the paradox of coal "shortages" amidst near-record production.

The parley was called by Interior Secretary J. A. Krug and included producers, shippers and mine union representatives.

Indications are that Krug will seek industry compliance with a voluntary system of controls to iron out present difficulties.

The nation's 1947 coal output is expected to surpass 600 million tons, a figure that should be ample for all domestic needs and export requirements of approximately 40 million tons.

HOWEVER, the railroad car shortage, inadequate dock facilities for overseas shipments, and other factors have blocked equitable distribution of this output.

Rail dealers have flooded the interior department and congressmen with complaints on their inability to get adequate coal supplies and protesting against the large export shipments.

Both government and industry representatives assert, however, that the U. S. is mining enough coal to meet export needs without hardship on domestic consumers.

The problem is one of distribution.

Up to Oct. 11, the nation had produced 474 million tons of coal and during the next eleven and one-half weeks should mine another 138 million tons. This would give a total 1947 output of 612 million tons, second highest in history.

Industry officials pointed out that the country exported twenty-one million tons of coal last year on a production of 532 million tons. With another eighty million tons output this year, the nation should have no difficulty in doubling its exports, they said.

The national stockpile totalled forty-eight million tons Sept. 1, or a 30 days' supply.

"Take Pen in Hand"

This column has been running for so long that its readers, in towns like ours all over the country, are beginning to "take pen in hand" and write us what they think.

Some of them take me over the coals for what I say—like the column I ran on planting alfalfa. Others write, "I liked your column yesterday, but..." All of them have different points of view.

From where I sit, that's the way it should be. Everybody's entitled to an opinion—and it's those very differences, and friendly criticism,

GRID LEADS OF HIGH SCHOOLS APPEAR SHAKY

Present Pace Setters Face Threat To Brief Tenure In High Altitudes

By International News Service
Leading the state's high school football ratings appeared about as insecure today as being selected president of one of those South American countries that is in constant political upheaval.

Elevated to the heights by a series of upsets last week, the present schoolboy pace setters can, one and all, look forward to a stiff threat to their tenure of office this weekend.

Here's the schedule for the leaders:

Massillon, now ranked first, plays a Warren eleven good enough to knock off previously undefeated East Cleveland Shaw a week ago;

Fremont Ross, second in the latest INS consensus poll, entertains undefeated Bowling Green in a battle to determine leadership of the Buckeye league;

Third place Middlefield tangles with Springfield, fresh from bruising upsets over then unbeaten Mansfield and Hamilton on consecutive weekends;

Burbank, impressive in gaining its sixth straight at the expense of Toledo Scott, is confronted by Niles, a team that gave Canton Lincoln a rough way to go last week.

There are some other interesting contests on tap, too. Akron West defends its unbeaten record against Akron South; rugged Elyria meets East Cleveland Shaw with the latter outfit on the rebound from last week's defeat; Canton Lincoln, beaten only by Massillon, must get by a strong Alliance opponent.

Canton McKinley, its early season powerhouse running at half speed in recent weeks, can expect trouble from Steubenville, which arose last week to knock off Toledo Waite after two successive losses.

WAITE, erstwhile leader of the scholastic armies, is scheduled to tackle Woodward in the Toledo city league. Cleveland Cathedral Latin, its string of 38 games without defeat snapped, will seek to begin a new skein Saturday against Cleveland Central. Meanwhile, Latin's unbeaten conqueror, Holy Name, meets Cleveland Lincoln.

Central Ohio teams play tonight because of a teachers' meeting this weekend. Heading the list is a Central Buckeye clash between undefeated Grandview and Bexley, while Columbus West, ranked fifth in the INS statewide poll, jousts with Linden McKinley.

FORDHAM EYES VICTORIES, BUT NOT "BIG TIME"

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—As a result of turmoil created by the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S. J., president of Fordham university, concerning "big time" football, the Rev. Kevin J. O'Brien, athletic director, has outlined the university's gridiron policy.

The statement said that Fordham considers athletics an integral part of collegiate life and that the school "desires to produce successful teams that will satisfy the discerning members of the student body, alumni, and friends."

The statement pointed out that the school does not care for the term "big time" football because that remark is usually misinterpreted. The statement concluded that it will be the policy of the school to keep collegiate athletics strictly "college."

McCLAIN TIGERS, PRO-OFFENSIVE RECORDS SHAKE RED AND BLACK MEET TONIGHT

Greenfield McClain's grididers invade Circleville tonight for a contest with the local Red and Black squad. The game will get underway at 8 p. m. at the high school field.

The Tigers of Circleville will be endeavoring to get back into the win column after suffering their first defeat of the season last Friday at Wilmington.

The coaching staff has reported that the squad will be near top shape for the contest and will be out to win over the visitors.

The Red and Black can take second place in the league standings if they win their two remaining games, tonight's contest with Greenfield and the encounter with Washington C. H. two weeks from Friday.

Fans will be treated to fine entertainment at half time with Greenfield's band coming over for the Pumpkin Show and the game.

Also taking part in the half time ceremonies will be the ever-popular Circleville high school band under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein.

FLYWEIGHTS MAY DECIDE TITLE IN U. S. FIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—The next title bout for the much-disputed flyweight championship of the world may be held in the United States if present promotional plans are carried out.

Sol Strauss, acting promoter for the 20th Century Sporting Club is trying to arrange a title bout at Madison Square Garden in late March or early April.

Strauss has telegraphed Rinty Monaghan, Irish champion, and Dado Marino of Honolulu, the man Monaghan defeated, concerning a return match.

Monday, Monaghan declined Marino, but the fans booted the triumph and British boxing experts declared the ruling unjust.

Monaghan's "title" is not sanctioned by the British boxing board, because British flyweight king, Jackie Paterson, has filed an injunction concerning his title being taken from him without his defending it.

The board will rule on Paterson's plea shortly.

Without Painful Backache

Many suffers relieve nagging backache only to find that they discover the real cause of their trouble to be the real kidney trouble.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood to help most people pass about 3 urine a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, loss of appetite, and general getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes indicate that there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

FESLER SAYS PITT WILL NOT BE PUSHOVER

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 23—Maybe it's pardonable pride in a team he once coached, but Wes Fesler is not taking Pittsburgh lightly.

Fesler insists his present Ohio State eleven has no breather on tap with the Panthers at Pitt this week.

He emphasized that opinion by sending the Bucks through a rugged scrimmage against Pitt's single wing formation. That's the same set-up with which Jock Sutherland's Panther teams used to mow down all and sundry opposition.

Half a dozen Bucks retired to the training room early last night with an assortment of bumps and bruises. Bob Demmel, the brittle halfback who has been out since the Missouri game, was one of the victims.

Others were fullback Joe Whisler, the first string ends Jim Crane and Jim Hague, center Chuck Renner and guard Tom Snyder.

Trainer Ernie Biggs indicated that none of the injuries was serious.

Meanwhile, Alex Verdova, injured last week against Iowa, and Pete Perini, hurt in the Southern California game, showed well in the scrimmage and should be ready to go Saturday. Both will help the backfield picture, especially on defense.

TRIBE, GIANTS SCHEDULED FOR 17 EXHIBITIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—Up-to-date statistics from the All-America conference disclose a concentrated assault on most offensive records established in 1946 and some all-time marks as well.

New pro offensive standards expected to topple include: points per game, total touchdowns via air and ground attacks, most points scored, number of field goals and total yardage.

Right now, with 29 of the 56 scheduled games completed, 78 passes have resulted in touchdowns threatening the all-pro record of 133. Another 179 "six pointers" have been ground out overland.

The average points-per-game is a phenomenal 45.7 as compared with last year's 39.5.

Last year, Lou (The Toe) Groza notched a league-high individual scoring mark of 84 points, all scored via extra points (45) or field goals (13).

However, Groza may have to abdicate his point-getting crown to such fleet backs as Chet Murny of the Buffalo Bills or Spec Sanders of the New York Giants of the National League.

In addition to New York, the Redskins will meet Chicago and Pittsburgh of the National League, and Chicago and St. Louis of the American.

Cleveland's Spring practice session will begin March 1st at their Tuscon, Ariz., training camp. Five days later, they meet the Giants in their first exhibition tilt.

WHISLER MAY BE ON BENCH AT PITT GAME

Bad Knee Slows Action Of Jolting Fullback—Other Cripples Ironing Out

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 23—Just when Coach Wes Fesler thought he might have his Bucks in their best physical condition of the season, he learned today that Joe Whisler, his hard-hitting fullback, may be out for Saturday's game at Pittsburgh.

Whisler suffered a bad knee bruise in scrimmage Tuesday, and Trainer Ernie Biggs considers his status doubtful Saturday.

Otherwise, the Buck cripes are all expected to be in shape to play against the Panthers. That includes even Jack Jenkins, regular tackle, who received a painful chest bruise last Saturday.

With Whisler on the shelf, Fesler is doubly glad to have Pete Perini back in condition. In addition to being one of the fine punters in the business, Perini will take over defensive fullback chores.

Trainer Ernie Biggs indicated that none of the injuries was serious.

Meanwhile, Alex Verdova, injured last week against Iowa, and Pete Perini, hurt in the Southern California game, showed well in the scrimmage and should be ready to go Saturday. Both will help the backfield picture, especially on defense.

500 Women Apply For Jobs In Factory

ORIGINAL GOAL MAY BE DOUBLED BY DEADLINE

Selection Of City As Site For Plant Depends On Worker Interest

Enrollees for possible employment in a new $2,500,000 factory expected to be established in Circleville by a nationally known company totaled more than 500 women and approximately 40 men at noon Thursday. Enrollment continues at a rapid pace and now it is expected that the original goal of 500 may be doubled before the deadline Friday night.

The survey to assemble the names of potential workers was begun early in the week jointly by the Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio State Employment Service. The building of the modern factory in Circleville is dependent solely, it was explained, on the submission to the company of the list of names.

The applications filed by Friday afternoon will be transmitted to the company at New York City on Friday night. It was announced Thursday that the OSES office in the basement of the courthouse will remain open all day Saturday to accept late applications which also will be forwarded to New York.

Applications may also be filed at a booth maintained for that purpose by the Chamber of Commerce at the Pumpkin Show. It is situated at Court and Main streets.

The company's board of directors, it is understood, will meet next Tuesday at New York City and afterward an official announcement will likely be made relative to the factory location and the name of the company.

NEGRO FAMILY FACES FIRE IN WHITE DISTRICT

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 23—A Negro family of four who yesterday moved into a white residential section in Atlanta was safe today following a "spontaneous" blaze which mysteriously engulfed the house last night.

Atlanta Patrolmen R. B. Bibb and H. W. Bates reported they rescued Cliff Watson, 43, his wife and two children by kicking down the front door and awakening them.

The policemen said they were watching the house from a patrol car since they anticipated trouble when the Negroes moved into the neighborhood yesterday. They said a white man approached them late last night and asked:

"How long will you be here?" The officers replied that someone would be there all night and the man said:

"Well you had better not see everything."

The report continued: "We checked the back of the house and saw a group of 12 or 15 men standing across the street. Several minutes later the back of the house burst into flames."

CHILE PRESSES HUNT FOR REDS, GUARDS MINES

SANTIAGO, Oct. 23—Chile declared a state of emergency in four ore-rich provinces and pressed a hunt for Communists today in a move linked to the rupture of diplomatic relations with Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Troops took over control of parts of Tarapaca, Antofagasta, O'Higgins and Atacama. They are heavy producers of nitrates, cooper and other minerals.

Brazil, which also broke with Russia, moved more cautiously against the Communists.

(Rio De Janeiro dispatches said Russian embassy and Soviet news agency dispatches in Russian were ordered halted, an exception was made for dispatches in English or a "romance language."

(Communist Deputy Maitilho Muraro was being sought by Brazilian police who said they wanted to question him concerning disappearance of Communist party funds.)

Chile's anti-Communist drive was aimed at prevention of threatened general strikes.
